

THE WAVE OF COVID-19

A pandemic that teaches us something...

A few months before we were different,
Busy with works and complaining about coherent
Some were frustrated over extra work,
Some were deliberate to have a holiday break
And some of us requested nature to pause the time to enjoy the day.

Really we are something!!

We make debate over few things
Like climate change and maintaining peace
We wonder how can we control these,
And how could we leave with so much ease?

Then came a wave wind which flows over the world
And it has the solution in its hand
Nature brought this to stop the world
From the rapid run of achieving something insignificant.

Has it taught us something... YES!

The world can heal,
The nature can regain and refill
And there is something that we can deal,

To make this world subtle and serene.

YES!

We can be productive,

We can be protective.

The time is here and its NOW

To reform positivity

After all this is the pandemic that teaches us something...
