

Journey for discipline

Ability is nothing without opportunity

-Napoleon Bonaparte

Every successful person in this world has some kind of motivation in their life which drives them to reach their ultimate goal and so does a girl had a desire to serve the nation but there were no one to ignite the fire in her to pursue such career.

The girl who was very bright and quick-witted was soon getting to know the accomplishments about a person who was serving the nation far away from his hometown. That person didn't only love his family but he cherished the whole nation. Maybe that was the reason for him for not missing his family because he thought that the whole nation was his family and that made the girl admire him even more.

Not only the girl admired the accomplishments of that person but also she was getting charmed for the aviation industry and petrochemical industry both simultaneously . The day when she learned about aviation and petrochemical activities she started to dream about flying in the sky and diving in the ocean parallelly

Later on the man who was restlessly working for his nation round the clock owing to the responsibilities of his own family dropped out from his service which made the girl unruffled for hearing such news.

The girl later on developed a fascination towards the field of petrochemical engineering which made her work even more diligently with her academics. After completing her education of high school. The girl was very curious about her under graduation just like a newly born hatchling getting ready to fly for the first time. Little did she knew that the decision which she would lay hold of now would decide the path to her future

The girl was given many suggestions and advices that she was soo confused as of what to choose and which step to put forward. After tons of advices and multiple suggestions the girl later on chose to become an Engineering aspirant as she fascinated but wait! It was not a diving into the see job but rather it was a tech related job! Yes, the girl turned out to be a computer Science Engineer.

After Blindly choosing the computer science engineering path like many others did, The girl was not so happy with her decision as she was very much interested in the field of petrochemical engineering. It was the pressure of the society and family members to join the computer science engineering and so she naively joined the collage.

Life was going soo smoothly for the girl that she couldn't imagine her dreams anymore. The girl was not satisfied for the decision which she has taken. She was waging a war inside her, for naively trusting her relatives until, she came to know that a voluntary organization is recruiting cadets all over the city for some basic military training. It was the first opportunity for the girl to join an organization which trains its recruits to serve the nation.

The dream of petrochemical engineering didn't go according to the plan but the dream of serving the nation was in her hands. She promptly applied for the recruitment. After facing a lot of hurdles and obstacles in the selection process which was not less than any maze she finally got recruited into the prestigious NCC organization.

Every person has that little sense of fright inside them when they get selected for an organization and tomorrow is the first day of the NCC. When the girl woke up she was little tensed how the day would be until she put on the uniform. The girl felt proud after putting on the uniform, it was something so special in the uniform that she lost her fright and curiously went on further for her first day.

It was the moment for the girl to feel the aura of the service of soldiers who work round the clock to serve the nation, NCC gave the girl a sense of pride and passion to serve the nation. The inspiration the girl had at the past today put her in the name of Cadet Roja Reddy yes, I feel proud to be a Cadet, ready to serve the nation and my inspiration is my father who is a retired CRPF Jawan who made me ignite my inner confidence, till now I did not have any opportunity to deliver my passion of service for this nation, NCC showed me an opportunity in delivering my abilities to serve the nation.

After joining NCC, I had physical training at our collage. Before attending the training, I was nervous as to how would the environment would be and how cadets would perform, after getting into the training wearing the uniform, it felt like I was the soldier at the border getting ready for a war. It was a challenging task for performing the training but when I understood the role of physical training, I got used to it because the training is not only physical but also it stabilizes our mental abilities and guides us to be a disciplined cadet and discipline plays a pivotal role in every cadet's training. Every person in this world could reach the peak of their career only with discipline, It might be discipline with punctuality, discipline in performing activities or what ever the effort maybe. With hard work you can only reach the milestone but with hard work and discipline together you can reach the destiny .

Due to the pandemic situation the organization had to struck down the training and we had online classes where we get to know lots of inspiring stories of Jawan(s) who were martyred during the battle and I being in Air force wing I get to know about fighter jets and war planes. Being a aviation enthusiast I feel very excited to attend every class. I am very proud to that I somehow made it up to here because not everyone Would get this opportunity getting directed to serve the nation.

I will Sincerely put all my efforts and endeavor to make my family and my nation feel proud.

I would once again proudly say that I am a cadet and I am proud to be one. Everyone would get an opportunity to prove themselves and I got it in the form of NCC. It is my life time opportunity to prove myself to this world that I am a strong women and can stand on my own to serve this nation

This is just a beginning for my journey to discipline, there are many more auspicious moments to be witnessed as a cadet

Some special moments of my NCC events

Our first day in uniform with my fellow cadets
