

NCC in Student's life

Students today live in a world full of competition. One needs to be perfect to secure a better position in future. One can join such organisations which help one to become perfectionist. NCC is one of such organisations.

NCC which refers to national cadet corps has become a priority in student life. Present students who join NCC are named NCC cadets which make them feel special and different than the usual student. They get opportunities for their all-round development. With a sense of duty they learn to take pride in their land. The training also strengthens the spirit of being in India. This helps them gear toward joining the force and providing their services when the country is in need of them. Other than just military training, the cadets also learn several other valuable things such as selflessness, honesty, discipline, hard work, and ways to build confidence and gain leadership qualities. Since NCC camps are held all over India, therefore there is training in various parts of the country.

Hence cadets get an opportunity to visit new places to explore and learn the art of independence.

The coming generation need such organisations to make India more development and to grab height in their life.
