Democracy In India

Democracy in India works within the framework of the Country's Constitution. India is a Parliamentary democratic secular republic in which the President of India is the head of state and first citizen of India and the prime minister of India is the head government. It is based on the federal structure of government, although the word is not used in the Constitution itself. India follows the dual polity system, i.e. federal in nature, that consists of the central authority at the centre and states at the periphery. It is well recognised, fluid and considered supreme, i.e. the laws of the nation must conform to it.

Bharat Ratna

The Bharat Ratna is the highest civilian award of the Republic of India. Instituted on 2 January 1954, the award is conferred in recognition of "exceptional service/performance of the highest order," without distinction of race, occupation, position. The award was originally limited to achievements in the arts, literature, science, and public service. But the government expanded the criteria to include "any field of human endeavour" in December 2021. There is no monetary grant associated with the award. Bharat Ratna recipients rank seventh in the Indian Order of Precedence.
